EPHA conference
‘Resistance! – antibiotics, politics and public health’
By Rose Gallagher

EUNETIPS participated with two members to the EPHA conference on “ Resistance! – antibiotics, politics and Public health”. The conference (for those interested documentation is available at ....) focused the attention on the global challenge of antimicrobial resistance bringing together many European stakeholders (policy makers, public health officers, media, professionals, citizens and industries) to make evident the existing efforts and the need for a coordinated action.
